Why Yoga

Sure, yoga increases flexibility and strengthens muscle tissue - but it's also great for detox and the perfect stress-buster!

Yoga and Arthritis

Arthritis is the inflammation of joints, creating joint pain. The most positive effects of Yoga on reducing joint pain occur in the area of increasing mobility and pain reduction. Your regular Yoga practice can provide a systematic and gradual training to improve the range of movements. Practising Yoga with regularity can also help to strengthen surrounding muscles and thus improve a joints' mobility. Breathing exercises that are a fundamental part of yoga increase the supply of fresh oxygen and purify the blood, helping to improve blood circulation to the cartilage. Pain itself is typically one of two forms, stress-born and non-stress born. Yoga's strength is its effectiveness in both prevention and remedy, helping to release associated pain and restore personal self-confidence.

Yoga Mat Rentals

As of July 10th we will be offering Mat Rentals for $1.00 per class - we have also brought in a 6 color selection of 5mm Mats for purchase at $29.99 each (these are the same style mats we use in the Studio)

Pose of the Month
